

Spring Prom Set For Carmel Next Friday

As We See It

By PHIL TRINE

The Hartnell College Men's Club pulled the prize "political boner" last week when it attempted to run off a "so-called" election.

Oblivious to the student body and almost unknown to the candidates themselves, the Men's Club decided to hold an election to "vote in" next year's set of officials.

As early as Monday of last week the Men's Club officers asked for nominating petitions to be turned in, but due to the mad scramble and intense interest in the general student body commission balloting the bulletin went unnoticed.

When the deadline for receiving nominating petitions had passed the grand total of responses was zero. Definitely part of the blame for the poor response should be shouldered by the men of the college. But the resulting events can be attributed to poor organization and leadership.

Without one nominating petition and with no assembly of the male population of the college, a ballot with four names appeared mysteriously on Friday. From whence it came nobody knows. Your guess is as good as mine. Perhaps they were pulled out of a hat.

At any rate they couldn't be called a "fair and square" representation of the men students. As it happened, all the candidates listed were worthy men but the procedure in naming them certainly "smells of power politics."

We don't believe the election was intended to be a "put-up job" but one can hardly think otherwise, considering the method that was used. With two candidates in the running for president, and two men uncontested for secretary and treasurer the men would have little choice.

It appears the "political boner" was just another indication what lack of organization and publicity can do. Nobody knew who was running, and worse than that until the very day of the supposed election nobody knew there was one.

Fortunately for all concerned the election was postponed until today. Petitions were circulated and the candidates that appear on today's ballot will at least know their names have been submitted and approved by more than 50 male students.

Now it's up to the male voters to select their set of officials for the coming year. We can breathe easier now that we are sure they'll be a representative group and not "pushed in" by some unseen hand.

We all should remember that this editorial is not intended to "tear apart" the Men's Club. It's just a demonstration of what can happen when organization is lacking. Let's not permit it to happen again.

Jackson, Ausonio Selected Editors Of Next Year's Paper, Year Book

Editors for Panther Sentinel and La Reata have been announced by the faculty advisor, Mr. Stuart Dufour. Editor for the school weekly will be George Jackson, and Andy Ausonio will head La Reata staff.

Andy resides in Castroville, "artichoke center of the world." He attended Salinas high school where he was photographer for the year book for four years. In his junior year he comprised a one-man advertising staff for the year book, but "didn't like advertising and so went back to photo work."

After graduating from high school in 1949 Andy came to Hartnell to major in education. His plans are to go into administrative work. While at Hartnell his interests have not only been in photography but in flying, "a side ambition," and school organizations.

First semester, Ausonio was photographer for La Reata; second semester he was photo editor. With five years of year book experience and the interest he has in the publication, it is the opinion of Mr. Dufour "that Andy should make one of the best editors ever to come to Hartnell." It is Andy's hope to "live up to the high standard set by this year's editor, Camille Johnson."

Panther Sentinel Editor George Jackson is a Salinas man. Although he was born in Mesa, Arizona, he has lived in Salinas since 1940. During the time he was at Salinas high school he was senior class vice-president and served on the school weekly publication for two years. During the two years he was a reporter and managing editor.

When he started at Hartnell in 1949 he selected social science for a major, with journalism for a minor. Sidelines for the versatile Jackson include baseball and serving on various student committees. At present Jackson is a member of the writing staff on The Panther Sentinel and the author of "Campusology." Jackson also worked as the carnival publicity chairman.

JIM CONRADO
Commissioner of Public Relations

Two Appointees Named to Council

Two appointive student body offices were filled this past week with the appointment of Jim Conrado to the post of commissioner of public relations and the placing of Bob Foster as commissioner of finance. They will take over their respective titles at the start of the fall semester.

Now residing in Salinas, Jim Conrado has hailed from two other towns in the Hartnell College area. He was born in the town of Santa Cruz where he attended Holy Cross high school and participated in the small Catholic high school's athletics and student affairs.

Upon receiving his diploma from Holy Cross Jim entered the service. He entered Salinas Junior College after being mustered out of the army and went to work for the Watsonville Pajaronian after one semester of study.

While serving with the Pajaronian Jim worked in the advertising department and received considerable experience for his student body.

Social Event Last of Year Bids on Sale

Bids for the annual spring prom are now on sale in front of the main office for $3. It was announced recently by Wayne Ingols, commissioner of social activities and general chairman for the event. The spring's outstanding social event will be held at the Carmel Valley Inn on the evening of Friday, June 2. Chairman for bid sales is Marge Mathers.

A new precedent will be inaugurated this year in the evening's program, Ingols said. No dinner will be served, but guests will be served breakfast at 2 a.m. Dancing to the music of Don Dean and his Modernaires will be held from 10 to 2 on that evening.

Site of the event will be the Carmel Valley Inn, located 17 miles from Salinas on the Los Laurelos Grade.

Reason for the serving of breakfast instead of dinner was given by Ingols. He said that because many

Men's Club Votes For New Officers

Today the polls will be open, and next year's officers for the Men's Club will be elected. For the post of Men's Club president, Bill Bell and Bob Childs are candidates. Bell is a native of Salinas while Childs is from Santa Cruz.

Vice-president will be elected next fall so as to give the freshman class a representative in the club, according to John Alsop, present president of the Men's Club.

George Jackson is running for the post of secretary and Dick Kampa for the position of treasurer. Both of these candidates are unopposed in the race for these positions.

This year's officers, under the leadership of John Alsop, have done a good job in the activities that they have undertaken. They have sponsored the Field Day, the Whiskerino, and the Men's Club dinner.

Job Openings For Rodeo Week

Students who desire to work at the California Rodeo, to be held in Salinas June 22 to 25, will have an opportunity to talk with Mr. Norman Crane concerning jobs. Mr. Crane, a representative of the department of employment, will be in Miss June Handley's office on the afternoon of June 1 and 2.

Jobs which are to be filled include car parkers and cashiers. Pay for parkers is $6, and cashiers will receive $7. In addition to the salary, workers will be admitted to the rodeo free when they have completed the day's work.

Schrump Secures Commission Post; Wins Rallies, Assembly Race; Bartlebaugh Defeated in Run-Off

Don Schrump defeated Carl Bartlebaugh in a close run-off election held last Thursday and Friday, 152 to 117, for the office of commissioner of rallies and assemblies. Bartlebaugh and Schrump gained the finals in the election held previously by winning over Robin Lowry and Carla Adams.

This office is a new creation made so by the new by-laws that were adopted by the current commission and passed by the student body. The general duty of the office will be to supervise all assemblies and head rally committees.

Schrump is attending Hartnell preparing for a music scholarship he received upon graduating from high school. He received his diploma from Gilroy high school last year and is a Spanish major at Hartnell.

CAMPUSOLOGY

By GEORGE JACKSON

One sore fellow is Dewey Chambers, who really gave his all to put across the carnival as a clown in the parade Friday. Dewey strutted, danced, pranced, and ran down Central Avenue to Main Street, then down to the high school, leading the parade. This wouldn't have been too bad, EXCEPT he was in his stocking feet.

After the parade Dewey's dogs were really barking. Dewey should try to remember to take the example of some of the students around the campus. If someone wants to clown around, be sure to have your shoes on.

Next year's veep, Ken Yoder, has come up with an idea to better the standing of our alma mater across the nation. He plans to send to Varsity magazine pictures of several local campus beauties for publication by them in their good-looking-coed section.

According to Ken there are more good looking girls around this school than there has been in Varsity magazine for some time.

Those Men's Club bicycles are really going over big. Evidence of this success was shown when Pat O'Bannon was observed bringing the vehicle up the ramp near the library, calmly mount the maroon rocket, then proceed to pedal the bike down the main hall.

Success of the carnival was Gardner Pond, who "posed" as the most hated man at Hartnell in the Delta Psi Omega ham and egg booth. The object of the booth was to throw a baseball at a target, and, if the target was hit, an egg would drop on his head.

Gloria Scroggs felt she could not hit the target at the prescribed distance but was able to do so when she was allowed to move in closer. However the egg failed to fall. Gloria then proceeded to advance across the counter and smash an egg on his head to even things up.

A big vote of thanks to my many friends, both of you, who wished me well on my recent appointment as next year's Panther Sentinel editor. I would like to say that after lengthy deliberation I have decided to follow the tradition of editors in the past and will have a staff to help me put out the weekly tell-all.

dent body office on next year's commission. He also labored as a fireman for the Watsonville fire department.

Conrado ran for vice-president this past election but was defeated by Ken Yoder in a close race. He does not plan to graduate from Hartnell but expects to transfer to Santa Barbara State after completing two more semesters of work here.

Foster, the new commissioner of finance, is a native son of Gonzales. He prepped at Chualar grammar school and Gonzales high school, and then moved to Watsonville, where he now resides. He is interested in all sports, and was varsity track manager this past year.

He was appointed to the post of commissioner of finance by Miss Ruth Rothrock because of his very high grades and great interest in accounting. Foster is majoring in accounting and has high hopes of becoming a certified public accountant.

Borough, advisor of the group, stated that the group had done well in donating used books. These books are to go to underprivileged children.

Placement Bureau Has Busy Year

Figures released by Mr. Jerry Girdner, head of Hartnell College employment service, show that the group has had a very active year. A total of 109 placements were made by that service alone, including both part-time and full-time positions. Eighty-three employers took part in this service.

Mr. Girdner emphasized this service is available to both present students and alumni. He said that many times employers will ask for persons who are already trained or who are out of school. This fact is of special importance to graduates, who should make it a point to keep in touch with the service even after they have been employed, for they might be able

Annual Due Here June 5

"Purchase a La Reata today," states Camille Johnson, editor. She says the books will be ready for distribution on June 5, but there are not enough copies for all Hartnell students. Persons who have not ordered should do so immediately. There were 500 copies printed and only 100 copies remain. This is the largest presale in La Reata history.

This year's book will have a blue, padded cover with maroon print. Having just left El Camino Press, it is now in San Francisco to be bound. The Benj. Keys bindery has assured La Reata staff that they will make every effort to have the book here on time.

There are 112 pages in the book. These pages are filled with pictures of clubs, athletics, snapshots, pictures of the year's activities, and individual soph pictures. The division pages will feature pictures of students.

Camille Johnson has reported that the whole staff has put in a lot of hard work to make this year's La Reata the best ever. A minimum of copy was used to facilitate a maximum of pictures. This year's staff consisted of: sports editor, Gary Robinson; copy, George Jackson, Phyllis Williams; photographers, Andy Ausonio, David Bird, Grant Markham, Lew Patterson, Pat Lewis; artist, Ralf Goings.

The price is $2.50, but a copy may be reserved for $1. The remainder is to be paid when receiving the book.

to secure better position through the service.

The above figures do not include other positions found by other groups in the college. Miss June Handley, dean of women, has during the year secured room and board jobs, baby-sitting positions, and many jobs have been obtained through various departments.

Mr. Girdner also reminded students of the bulletin board maintained by his office outside the faculty room which keeps students informed on different job opportunities.

Social Highlights Of College Year

By ROBIN LOWRY

Hartnell saw a year of topnotch social activities during 1949-50.

The frosh reception started the year off, with Wayne Ingols, Aletha Mathers, and Tom Ford working on it. September 16 was the date, and all the freshmen came out in a body.

Everyone remembers the dance and bonfire rally with the Cal Poly game way back in October. Dewey Chambers planned the activities.

The Men's Club Field Day was October 19, with John Alsop, president of the Men's Club, chairman of the affair. Games, races, mud-hole, tug-of-war, chicken barbecue, and dance completed the day's activities.

"Angel Street," first drama production of the year, was a suspense thriller enjoyed by all who saw it. Mr. Hal Ulrici directed the show, with an able cast headed by Gloria Scroggs, Don LoPresti, and Richard Cimino. The production played three nights, October 27, 28, and 29.

Halloween dance was given by the Ski Club, October 28, in the men's gym, under the chairmanship of Marilyn Hendrix.

A large crowd attended the big Homecoming Day fete last Armistice Day, November 11. Wayne Ingols was chairman of the activities which included a morning parade, barbecue, and reception following the game with San Francisco City College. A big dance that evening climaxed the day's activities. Queen Carol Storment, from Salinas, and her attendants, Jacques Gaudin, Mary Lee Hubbard, Jackie Day, and Ada Kasje, reigned over the day's doings.

Biggest social event of the fall semester was the Winter Ball. The event took place at the Highlands Inn, December 19, in Carmel. Approximately 75 couples attended the gala affair.

U.G.C. gave a Christmas party just before vacation. Everyone will remember Santa Claus and the mule train, the refreshments, topped off with dancing.

Geordie Corbett, appearing in his first role on the Hartnell stage, presented a remarkable performance to be remembered by everyone as "The Winslow Boy."

Newman Club, under the chairmanship of Bob Cancellieri, put on the Isle of Capri dance February 24.

The annual Sadie Hawkins' Day was a huge success, rain and all. Barbara Johnson took charge of the plans, and the day's activities were topped off with a dance in the men's gym.

The newly organized Hawaiian Club, with Jim Akimo as president, has put on several affairs. The first was the big initiation in October when the girls all showed up in their Moo-moos and the fellows in their bright shirts. The second big affair was the Hoolaulea Hop in March.

Last was the May Day pageant with Queen Alice Spagapoulos reigning over the day's activities.

The freshman class put on their annual Pajamarino April 14. Although the crowd was small, those who did attend enjoyed the affair.

Benefit Show For Miyasato On Wednesday

Students will have an opportunity to take part in two worthwhile activities when the Hawaiian Club presents a benefit program Wednesday, May 31, at 12:15 in the Little Theater. This will give students a chance to see the popular show put on by the club at the carnival, but even greater is the opportunity to help out with a good cause.

This cause is to help defray expenses incurred by Jim Miyasato when he collided with another player in an intramural softball game at Hartnell not long ago. Resulting doctor and hospital expenses ran to $95.04, and this show will be given to help pay these fees.

Tickets are now on sale for 25 cents, and, if past opinions are any measure, they will be scarce by show time. Plan to attend this worthwhile show and not only have an enjoyable time but help contribute to a worthwhile cause.

Saga of West Brings Back Good ol' Days

Mr. Harry Davidson, speech teacher at Hartnell College, is engaged in producing a play called "Gold in the Hills" or "The Dead Sister's Secret," a Gay 90's melodrama. The production will be in two acts and there will be olios between acts.

The play, written by J. Frank Davis, will be presented on June 19 and 20 on the stage of the Salinas Union High School auditorium. The general theme of the play will carry out the western motif of the rodeo season.

There will be a piano to accompany the olio in the fashion that was popular in the good old days. Boogie of the villain and applause for the hero will be in order. Anyone who is interested should attend the performance and see some of the local talent at work.

Names of the cast members have not yet been released for publication by Mr. Davidson.

Baseballers Earn Sweaters, Blocks; Service Awards to be Presented

Baseball awards were approved by the commission at its regular meeting last Tuesday. Sweaters were awarded to Charlie Happ, Bill Casalegno, Dale Swire, Charles Jackson, Al Navaroli, and John Alsop. Blocks were awarded to the following because they had already received awards in other sports this year: Lou Foletta, Bob Swan, Frank Paz, and Captain Bill Cooke.

In addition to the team members, a sweater was approved for Humberto Perez, who has served without recognition as scorer the past two years. Coach Jess Regli felt that some award should be given him for his efforts.

Francis Scilacci was singled out by Coach Regli as outstanding as a manager and student helping the athletic teams. The commission moved to give Scilacci a special award in appreciation for his hard work in the past.

A committee to meet and discuss meritorious awards was appointed by President Miljanich. This committee, composed of student and faculty members, will aid in choosing an outstanding man and woman to whom awards will be presented for their services to Hartnell College.

The committee will be composed of faculty members Dr. Luella Hall, Dr. B. L. Borough, and Mr. Henry Cassidy, and students Bonnie Hearn, Bob Burton, and Wayne Ingols. Miss Ada Bassi will act as alumni representative and moderator for the group.

Bruce McCallum reported that the committee set up to discuss the athletic award system has not been able to meet as one group. However, he has set up a tentative plan which will be submitted to the coaches, Block "H," and later to the commission for approval. It is expected to be ready when the commission next meets on Monday.

Carnival Receipts Reveal Earnings

Interclub council officials have announced that the annual carnival held last Friday was quite successful. Total receipts from the event were $355.22, and a total of 18 concessions were included in the carnival.

Comparisons with last year's carnival revealed the gross receipts were about one and one half as great as the carnival of 1949. Interclub council president attributed the success of the event to the co-operation shown by the many clubs in the preparation and actual running of the carnival.

Organizations which had the highest receipts were as follows: Alpha Gamma Sigma, $48.02; Hawaiian Club, $41.10; Block "H," $37.81; and Alumni, $36.37.

Friday afternoon a parade was scheduled in downtown Salinas to create public interest in the affair. Included in the group were members of the college band, folk dancers, and various clowns and entertainers. Although no exact numbers were available on attend-baugh reported the freshman class is endeavoring to repay the loan granted them by the commission. Funds are being raised by collection of class dues and by proceeds from the freshman carnival booth. At that time there were no figures available on the progress of the drive.

Lengthy discussion of a request by the West Coast Tours for aid from the college when it brings 85 students through Salinas, August 29 and 30, was held. The tours are for foreign students who are in the U.S. and desire to travel and visit the west coast. Because of "lack of facilities" the group was refused aid by the commission.

ance at the carnival, estimates by officials set the number at about 700.

A questionnaire is being prepared to assist officials in planning next year's carnival. Already plans are under way to help make next year's carnival bigger and more successful than both of the two previous affairs.

Cooke Heads Baseballers For Second Straight Year

For the second year in succession, Bill Cooke, the Panthers' stalwart centerfielder, was elected captain of the Hartnell baseballers. Cooke's leadership and ability led him to the heights of achievement for the second year running which is very seldom seen at a junior college.

Bill held down centerfield last year with amazing skill, proving a dangerous threat to any opposing

During his stay with the Panthers, Bill was one of the leading Hart hitters consistently driving out sharp singles over the infielders' heads. When the Mission League's schedule gets under way Bill dons an Alisal Bronco uniform and patrols the outer garden for them until the first of September.

Local Tennis, Golf Players Fare Poorly In Modesto Tourney

Not faring so well in the Modesto tournament last week, the local tennis players were mostly eliminated in the first and second rounds. Harry Koue played four matches before being eliminated from the singles tournament. Cliff Herman met three men before being dropped from the singles ranks.

For the first time in some years the tournament was run off so that each player could play men in his position only, as well as the open tournament; fifth place men played fifth place men, etc.

In the division tournament Lawrence Barclay (Mod) d. Dick Skanse, 6-0, 7-5; Villey (Mod) d. Herman, 6-3, 6-4; Kim (Yuba) d. Skillicorn, 6-1, 6-8, 6-2; Day (SM) d. Robinson, 13-11, 6-2. Harry Koue had better luck, getting by Hill of Yuba, 6-4, 6-1, but then dropped to Adamack of San Mateo, 9-7, 6-4.

The open or main tournament was started later in the morning. A Canadian on the Modesto team named Barclay set Robinson down in straight games, 6-0, 6-0. Barclay's superior playing ability has placed him at the top of the N.C.J.C.C. league.

Next Clunie, a fellow that used both hands to swing his racket like a baseball bat, downed Skillicorn in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2. Clunie, the No. 1 man from Yuba, was given a big build-up by his coach, but was defeated by Corbett, fifth man of Modesto.

Cliff Herman played a good game defeating Hill (Yuba) 6-3, 6-3, but then lost to Haley (Stockton), 6-0, 6-4. Dick Skanse was dropped from the singles tournament by George Bill of Modesto, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Harry Koue received a default from Ruggles of Placer when his opponent failed to show, but then lost to strong Villey of Modesto, 6-1, 6-3.

Adamack and Hendoza (SM) d. Skanse and Koue, 6-2, 6-1, in the doubles, while Herman and Skillicorn went three sets to lose to Sweet and Blumfield of Stockton, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. It was evident during the tournament that the extreme heat was against the locals.

Hartnell Panther divotors ended their current season last week end competing in the Northern California Junior College Conference golf finals on the Del Rio Country Club golf course in Modesto. Competition was played on a flight basis with the first, second, third, fourth, and fifth men from each conference college participating in their respective flights.

Glen Albaugh finished highest for the Panthers, placing fifth in the third flight. He finished with a total of 172 strokes which was 11 off the pace set by Cushing of Menlo. Playing in the second flight, John Waterman copped low medal honors for the local linksmen, firing a total of 166 for the 36 holes of golfing.

Low medal honors for the entire tournament went to Dick Taylor, 27-year-old Arizona state open champion of Menlo who scored a low of 146 on the tricky Modesto course. This was the lowest score recorded in the history of N.C.J.C. finals.

John Kirkland shot a 79 on the closing day of the finals with a 37 on the back side. Coupled with the 90 he marked up on the first day, Kirkland finished his Panther golfing career with a total of 169 in the 36-hole golfing finals. Because of an inability to work in his studies with golf, Kirkland was only able to participate in the N.C.J.C. finals.

Playing in the fourth flight, Dick Fry was out of the running after falling behind the pack the first day with 90. With the temperature soaring to the heights, Fry slipped further back with a 93 on the second day of play.

In the two days of play Ken Koenig received a terrific beating from the weather and fell off his consistent pace shown during the season. He slumped to a 183 to-

SPORTS JARGON

By Gary Robinson

Last Wednesday in the N.C.J.C. Conference meeting at City College of San Francisco, a complaint was lodged against Fred Earle, tennis coach of Modesto, for breaking the "purity code." Rumors had it that Earle had used a player named Marlin Ramsey, from Sacramento on his team this year.

According to the league constitution it is illegal to use a player from another junior college district unless he has been enrolled in the school for not less than the full preceding semester.

The conference found Fred Earle guilty of breaking the "purity code." Yet, strangely enough, he gets off scot-free; no fines, no restrictions, only a reprimand.

After the tennis team was eliminated from the tourney in Modesto last Saturday, they watched the first part of the California Re-lays.

Something that occurs very seldom is what happened to Bill Cooke. He was elected captain of a team in the same sport two years in a row. It was officially released last week that the scrappy little outfielder was chosen as captain by his teammates. Bill has been playing ball for two years on local teams as well as the Panther squad.

Hotel Hughson was the scene of many scenes last week when the golf and tennis teams stayed there for three days. Thursday night at 3 a.m., the golf team sneaked into Herman's and Skillicorn's room and threw ice and water in the middle of the bed. It seems that they had been drinking—beer—root beer, that is!

Magginis Nip Sea Lions in Hot Fray

In a thrilling intramural softball game last Friday, the Magginis barely eked out a 2-1 victory over the thrice-beaten Sea Lions of Phil Trine.

The score was a 1-1 deadlock going into the last inning, but the Maggies twice hit the pitching of Bunky Millsap for the final marker. The tally was made by a single by Wally Wong, a steal to second by Wong, and a solid double down the right field line by Roy Pellascio.

The three top teams in the noon league are the Magginis, the Sea Lions, and the Vultures. If the standings remain as they are at present, these three teams will participate in a round robin to determine how the medals will be distributed.
